Geography Germany Japan South America This too and enough activity helps students to practice too, too much, too many and enough. In the activity, students complete a hotel review with words provided by a partner. In pairs, students take it in turns to ask about the missing problems in their table, e.g. 'What was the problem with the location?' Their partner then reads out the corresponding gap-fill sentence using the word 'blank' for the missing words, e.g. 'The hotel was BLANK from the beach'. The student listens and completes the sentence with too, too much, too many or enough, and a word from the box on their worksheet, e.g. too far. If their partner agrees that the words are suitable, they add them to the sentence and the student writes the sentence in their table. This process continues until both students have completed all the problems. Live worksheets > English Finish!! Please allow access to the microphone Look at the top of your web browser.
